Dear Mr. Hepple,

I am immensely grateful to you for the paper on immigration.

I would like to circulate it to the members of the Special Committee on Apartheid and issue it, as soon as possible, as an offset pamphlet with available tables. Before I do so, I would like to ascertain from you if you have any objection to our indicating that the paper was prepared by you for the U.N. Unit on Apartheid. I would appreciate an urgent reply.

I have also received the pamphlet on "resettlement". I will look into the possibilities of getting it attention here.

Yours sincerely,

4 December 1969

Dear Mr. Hepple,

I wish to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the papers on Southern Africa which Mr. Lawson had requested in his letter of 16 October 1969.

These papers constitute a very valuable contribution to the preparation of the draft report of the Working Group on Southern Africa. Only some slight rearrangement and shortening would be needed ~~and~~, which we are doing presently before submitting the papers for translation and reproduction.

We have requested Mrs. Tamar Oppenheimer, Chief of the Administrative Unit of the Division of Human Rights, room 3127B, to arrange for sending you the fees agreed to in your contract, as soon as possible.

Thanking you again for your kind co-operation, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hepple,

With reference to your letter of 12 February 1970, in which you inquired about the payment of the fee due you as a consultant on the Southern Africa report, may I say, first of all, how sorry I was to learn of the inconvenience you have been caused by the bank's late payment to your account.

As you noted, the United Nations had authorized the payment to be made on 16 December 1969, and at our end there was no reason to expect that it would not go through promptly. Upon receipt of your letter, however, our Controller's Office was asked to pursue the matter with the First National City Bank in New York. This they did, and after considerable investigation on its part, the bank reported yesterday that the transfer of funds from New York was effected on 12 January, and that it nevertheless took another month for the money to be credited to your account with Barclays.

I trust you have received notice of the completed transaction by this time, as it would appear that the amount was actually credited by 11 February. Appropriate representations have been made to the First National City Bank, and I can only express regret at the long delay.

Yours sincerely,

Tamar M. Oppenheimer, Chief
