Message from

M. MAHOMED
Chairman
Amrit Bhowan Memorial
Scholarship Fund and Sports Trust.

In these troubled times when our Black Brothers are giving vent to their feeling and are merely asking to be recognised as human beings, we are trying to bring harmony to all races by displaying our skills on the sporting field. And it is with this idea of kindling a strong sense of the BROTHERHOOD OF MAN, that I wish to welcome all the teams to participate in the Eight Amrit Bhowan Memorial Soccer Tournament. We also extend a very warm welcome to our ever faithful supporters without whose generous donations the Amrit Bhowan Memorial Tournament would cease to exist.

Sport in South Africa is entering a brave new world, and we are happy to see that all our "rivals" have finally seen the light and now recognise that the South African Soccer Federation is the ONLY truly representative soccer body in the country with overwhelming influence and support in the outside world. So, all you soccerites who are playing under the wing of Federation, please remember that you have fought a noble cause.

Also remember that by participating in, and supporting our tournament, you are directly involved in assisting some less fortunate student who without your help would, unnoticed, slip into oblivion and never be heard of or seen again.

Lest we forget: A hearty thanks to our sponsors, teams, supporters, the back-room boys, the Southern Transvaal Football Union, The Lenasia Football Association, the Transvaal Soccer Board, the South African Soccer Federation for allowing this tournament to take place, and to the All Sports Council – University of the Witwatersrand, for the use of the Milner Park

Remember:

LEND A HAND – JUST GIVE A RAND.

COST OF LOVING ALLOWANCE.

Sport Game Play

When your friend is about to ask you to forsake a chase, in favour of him, after a beautiful girl, he is sure to say: "Be a SPORT, old boy!" Describing how someone conceded in favour of another, you will find yourself saying: "He was GAME enough to . . ." On the other hand, you say: "PLAY fair" when asking a person to deal justly with you.

SPORT. GAME. PLAY. Three little words, but so pregnant with meaning that we would be at a loss without them. If it's a matter of demanding uprightness, justice, the right thing, we find ourselves falling back to them: all synonymous terms used in similar contexts, which thing should make any sportsman proud of being a sportsman, because the daily use of these words mean that sport is a "clean thing". But is it? Let us see:

IS THIS SPORT?

How often do we pay money to witness a game of soccer, only to find that a battle breaks out in the middle of the match! Either someone trips a member of the opposing side or all too frequently, someone does not like the ref's judgement. He therefore resorts to punching the referee or taking the ball and marching out of the ground with it, thus depriving us of our money's worth. What would that same person think if he were to go to a dance and before the band even starts playing, the bandsmen just packed their instruments and left him standing in the dance hall with his girl?

The same person forgets that he is PLAYING in a GAME of SPORTS, and should be sporting enough to play fair, and be game enough to take all irritations in his stride, and not allow his personal feeling to get the better of him. Otherwise he is not competent to partake in the GAMES, because he is not SPORTING.

When a side wins on a penalty kick, how often does one hear the grouching that: "The referee favoured them: he saw that we were winning!"

"We have lost trust in our referees, and only believe their decisions if these are favourable enough for us to swallow.

If we are to be worthy of sport, let us play fair: do not for a moment let WINNING cloud the issue that this is a sport. Accepted you are expected to win, but indulging in sports is a recreation (or so it was supposed to be)

Don't take it seriously that you have to draw knives or guns on losing or fret over it the whole week: energy so used would better be put to use by converting it so as to win your next match.

Remember that all our sports bodies have Boards of Control. Of what use are they if you are to take the law into your own hands. The important thing to realise, too is that even if we feel wronged, we must be game enough to concede to the other man . . . otherwise what does game mean?

EMPTY TALK . . .

A hugh truck from Coke just loaded with cases and cases of empty coke bottles was on its way back to the yards.

One Coke bottle said to the other:
Hey Chum - Are we going for a fill up?
'No, You DOPE,' replied the other -
'WASH DOWN'.
