Harold J. Laite, Esq.,

CAPE TOWN.

Dear Mr. Laite,

Many thanks for your letter of 22/8/62, and my apologies for the delay in replying. I had of necessity to be in Port Elizabeth last week to attend the wedding of my son.

Your letter contains many good suggestions for which I am very grateful. Unfortunately, however, we are now committed to the street collection in Johannesburg on 8/11/62. The Committee did consider a "same" day collection for the whole Reef but the practical difficulties of arranging such a date appear to be unsurmountable and would require very long term planning. To apply this to the rest of the country would be more difficult still in view of standing annual commitments of other organisations.

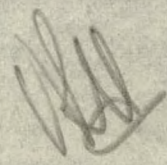

It will not be possible for our new body to be fully established or set up by November, but the Planning Committee for Johannesburg has decided that this drive here is to be carried over a long period, possibly a few years. It is intended that the publicity for the start of the drive should stress the new set up.

I am enclosing for your information, a copy of the minutes of the last meeting of the Planning Committee and I shall keep you advised of developments.

A copy of the Draft Constitution, which is now being finally typed is enclosed and if you wish to comment I shall be only too pleased.

Many thanks and kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Notes on draft Constitution for ROSA.

Clause 2. Objects.

I suggest that in (b) the words "amelioration or" be inserted after "the" in line 2.

Even international organisations appear not to see a solution of the refugee problem, and to limit ROSA's activity under (b) would probably give rise to fruitless discussion if some difficult individual objected to any assistance which was not specifically directed to a "solution"; whereas anything that will tend to ameliorate the unsatisfactory condition of refugees is a desirable action.

Sub-clause (e).

I suggest: delete "by way of" in line 2 and substitute "including the"; and insert "of" between "establishing" and "transit".

There are many ways of assisting refugees, e.g. monetary subsidies or grants, provision of tools and clothing, loans for purchasing houses, cost of transferring people from one centre to another etc, and I feel that ROSA should not be restricted in the manner in which it should be able to assist refugees.

Clause 4. Administration.

I feel that to provide for a Central Council as well as an Executive Committee will complicate the organisation unnecessarily.

It is not clear what the Central Council could do which the Exco cannot or should not do. In all organisations I know, the Exco is the chief Committee or Council, depending on the choice of name. Later in the Constitution, the Central Council is only required to meet once a year. It would thus, in effect, become an additional general meeting, and would tend to do the work which is properly the business of a general meeting. There might be disagreement between the Council and the Exco, and even a general meeting, or give rise to undesirable arguments between the Council and the Exco, and even displays of personal ill-will before a general meeting. It seems preferable that the proper controlling authority should be the Exco which would act as required within the policy, or special directions, laid down by the members in general meeting.

In addition I feel that simplification of the activities of an organisation makes for more efficient, speedy and effective working.

Clause 6. Membership.

I think it would be essential to define the various classes of members, i.e. what is a donor member and what is a subscriber member. Also it should be stated what rights, privileges and advantages attach to the different types of members.

All members should be entitled to representation on the Exco, and it should be stated what representation they are entitled to at general

Clause 12. Finance.

I think the Secretary should receive all monies. Some Hon. Treasurers take their duties seriously. Some do not, regarding the position as one of honour and not work! Besides it is best that monies be paid to the Organisation and routed through the Secretary's office, as otherwise some may be sent to the Hon. Treasurer and some to the Organisation, and the former may be kept in abeyance for sometime before being handed to the Secretary. This makes for inefficiency, loss of time, complains about delay in sending receipts and so on. I have had too much experience of such delays and troubles.

The real duty of the Hon. Treasurer is to oversee the keeping of the books; make recommendations after discussion with the Secretary as to auditors to be appointed, the state of the finances and if these are dangerously low to suggest remedies; to prepare, with the Secretary, a monthly financial report, and an annual report for the annual general meeting, and generally to exercise a general supervision.

In (ii) add "annually" after "audited" in line 2.

In (iii) I suggest the word "officer" in the last line, be deleted and the word "person" substituted. This will enable the Exco to authorise one of its members to be a ~~single~~ signing officer. I have found, generally, that it is sufficient for one officer, or other person, to sign cheques with the Secretary countersigning. There is often a waste of time if the Secretary has to find two persons to sign. I think the provision should be that cheques be signed by the Hon. Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary. In the event of the Hon. Treasurer not being available, any other person, authorised by the Exco.

Sub-clause (iv) is not necessary. This is the job of the Exco.

I feel that somewhere provision should be made for stating the financial year of the Organisation.

Clause 13. Committees.

I suggest it be provided that each sub-Committee shall elect its own Chairman.

Dear Mr. Hicks,

My thanks for yours of the 31st August.

I note the difficulties regarding a national street collection day, and agree with them. I also agree that the publicity and I presume, financial drive should stress the new set up, and, to my mind, that is the most important fact by which donations can be encouraged.

I have read the draft Constitution with much interest, and it seems to me that the various points are well taken. I have got together some comments on some of the clauses, which I attach to this letter, which I hope will be of use to you. Most of them are the result of 40 years of organisations and their Constitutions. My chief impression over the years is of the desirability of as much simplification and freedom or rather elasticity as possible. If an organisation is iron-bound by its Constitution difficulties are bound to arise. Anyway I hope I have been able to ~~make~~ make suggestions worth considering.

With kind regards and best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Harold Laite

DRAFT CONSTITUTION .

Dear Mr Hicks ,

I am proposing to go on a short overseas trip next week and immediately after my return at the end of January shall be moving to 71 Cadogan Gardens Musgrave Road . I am in the throes of sorting out papers , ~~being~~ ~~storing~~ - and have apparently done the job so well that I have been unable to find the draft constitution .

You asked me to offer ~~my~~ comment and I do apologise that I have not the constitution before me so that I cannot refer to specific sections .

OBJECTS .

I am in agreement but feel that it is my duty to point out that the refugee situation has changed enormously since World Refugee Year was launched in 1959 as you probably know only too well the European situation has now practically been solved - so that if the committee is thinking in terms of accepting European refugees and framing a programme in relation to this anticipated requirement it is completely unrealistic .

The High Commissioner has pointed out clearly that the area of refugee need has shifted from Europe to Africa and it is this continent that is now in need of assistance .

Is the committee prepared to work for non- white refugees - since most of the new refugees are Africans - Congolese , Angola Africans - then there is the huge problem in North Africa - there are certainly European refugees there- the French Algerians returning to France . For the rest there are pockets of white persons leaving former areas of residence- such as Kenya , probably Nyasaland but these are NOT refugees .

Thesecond point I want to stress is that South Africa is now in a position that there are increasing numbers of South African refugees - there are the political emigres (African) there are repeatedly refugees in transit through the High Commission territories . Many of these refugees have left behind their next of kin - As I read the constitution the committee would have no alternative but to provide relief for such families . I personally am quite in favour of this but I very much doubt that the rest of the committee has this in mind . On the other hand I think it would be quite impossible to create an organization and say "we are prepared to help all bona fide refugees except South African refugees . "

There may be specific other organisations created for the sole purpose of assisting South African refugees - but the committee has specifically stated that it desires to co- ordinate ALL EFFORTS ON BEHALF OF REFUGEES IN SOUTH AFRICA . Are they desirous of including in their over- all activities such organisations that work for South African political refugees .

I am stressing these problems not to be difficult but because I have been intimately associated with refugee work since 1944 and know that this is one of the most highly political of all activities - after all there would be few refugees if it were not for political persecution and political discrimination. Those are the situations that create refugees. I feel strongly on this and I personally would not be prepared to be part of an organisation that states its object is to assist refugees and then refuse such help to South African refugees. On the other hand, such activity would make the organisation highly suspicious as far as the Government is concerned. It is a dilemma that has to be faced and a policy thrashed out BEFORE the applications for assistance come in. Some persons might refuse to work with any organisation that is prepared to assist South African refugees, while others might refuse to work for the organisation just because it excludes from its care South African refugees. A clear decision has to be made at the outset I think - so that individuals can make up their minds in advance.

TRANSIT CAMPS .

I am totally opposed to this clause - the world refugee situation is not such that mass movements of the sort of refugee-immigrants that are acceptable to our Government - are at all likely. To stage the sort of operation envisaged requires thousands and thousands of rands and in any case if there are to be enormous mass movements then it is the responsibility of the government to provide a transit centre etc and not that of a small private organisation. I do not think we can ever become operational in a big way - our function surely should be to lend auxiliary services to a government immigration programme.

I am also completely and absolutely opposed to any concept of special refugee villages or settlements - one of the reasons I oppose transit camps is because they tend to become permanent refuge for the difficult to place.

MEMBERSHIP

I think that you will find in practice that you will have an inordinately small membership - doubt if it will ever reach more than a few hundred throughout the Republic.

I can only speak from my own experience but I should think that it would be practically impossible to get an effective permanent local committee operating in Durban - certainly my own experience over the past two years lends absolutely no cause for optimism.

(for instance I called a meeting to which 24 invitations were sent last week to discuss final arrangements for the Old Believers. Four attended two sent apologies - the others ignored the notice. This has been my experience over the past year.

FINANCE .

I should say extremely difficult to raise - I speak again from local experience but this is the third year that the Community Chest has not been able to raise its target - there is insufficient response even to such things as Malnutrition Relief Fund - the support for Kupugani despite excellent publicity is slender. NON-South African refugees will come bottom of the list of the many appeals - a sporadic effort such as we had earlier this year does meet with success - but it could not be repeated.

I have raised most of these matters in earlier correspondence and have no reason to change my mind .

Finally I have previously said that one of the practical difficulties I foresaw is that it will be impossible to achieve anything at all unless one has some salaried staff- yet on the otherhand the difficulties are such that that a very large proportion of the total funds are thereby swallowed up in administration .

May I take this opportunity of wishing your committee the// successful deliberations , I regret that I shall not be able to attend .

With best wishes for the Festive season !!
very sincerely yours

Notes on draft Constitution for Rosa.

from Mr. Harold J. Laite.

I suggest that in (b) the words "amelioration or" be inserted after "the" in line 2.

Even international organisations appear not to see a solution of the refugee problem, and to limit Rosa's activity under (b) would probably give rise to fruitless discussion if some difficult individual objected to any assistance which was not specifically directed to a "solution"; whereas anything that will tend to ameliorate the unsatisfactory condition of refugees is a desirable action.

Sub-clause (e).

I suggest: delete "by way of" in line 2 and substitute "including the"; and insert "of" between "establishing" and "transit".

There are many ways of assisting refugees, e.g. monetary subsidies or grants, provision of tools and clothing, loans for purchasing houses, cost of transferring people from one centre to another etc., and I feel that ROSA should not be restricted in the manner in which it should be able to assist refugees.

Clause 4. Administration.

I feel that to provide for a Central Council as well as an Executive Committee will complicate the organisation unnecessarily.

It is not clear what the Central Council could do which the Exco cannot or should not do. In all organisations I know, the Exco is the Chief Committee or Council, depending on the choice of name. Later in the Constitution, the Central Council is only required to meet once a year. It would thus, in effect, become an additional general meeting, and would tend to do the work which is properly the business of a general meeting. There might be disagreement between the Council and the Exco, and even a general meeting, or give rise to undesirable arguments between the Council and the Exco, and even displays of personal ill-will before a general meeting. It seems preferable that the proper controlling authority should be the Exco which would act as required within the policy, or special directions, laid down by the members in general meeting.

In addition I feel that simplification of the activities of an organisation makes for more efficient, speedy and effective working.

Clause 6. Membership.

I think it would be essential to define the various classes of members i.e. what is a donor member and what is a subscriber member. Also it should be stated what rights, privileges and advantages attach to the different types of members.

All members should be entitled to representation on the Exco, and it should be stated what representation they are entitled to at general.

For example: each ordinary member should be entitled to attend a general meeting, and each individual donor, subscriber, and perhaps, contributor should be so entitled. When firms become members, each should be entitled to be one representative with voting power, and the same with organisations, if this is not done, any firm or organisation could claim unlimited representation with voting power, and so a meeting could be packed to carry a certain resolution, or even to secure the election of certain persons to the Exco. This could lead to untold difficulties. I feel strongly that this position be clarified so as to be fair to everyone.

Clause 7. Meetings.

I suggest the Exco. should meet as and when required, but not less than once a quarter.

Clause 8. Voting.

This should deal with voting (see remarks on 6). I think any firm or organisation need not be restricted to representation at general/general/

general meetings, but that only one representative be entitled to vote. Also each firm or organisation should be officially represented by one person who would be eligible for election to the Exco.

Clause 9. Officers.

There is no need to specify that a "full-time" secretary is an ex-officio officer with no vote. By virtue of his office he must attend all meetings, keep notes and prepare minutes etc.,

I feel that the Cape Eastern Province and S.W.A. should be entitled to elect a Vice-President each. It would add and encourage interest in the Organisation. The Cape Eastern Province does not always see eye-to-eye with the Western Province, and always regards itself as separate from the W.P. and prefers to be regarded as an separate entity.

9b. I do not think the Exco need appoint a General Purposes Committee. Generally this provision tends to let members lose interest, whereas all were notified of Exco meetings it is up to them to attend or not. In any case the Exco has power to appoint sub-committees and could appoint one called "General Purposes" if experience showed it was essential.

Clause 10.a. Executive Committee.

To the powers set out, there should be added:
"to appoint a secretary and fix his duties, remuneration and conditions of employment.

If considered necessary, provision could be made that if the Exco considered that circumstances warranted it, an Hon. Secretary could be appointed, subject to confirmation of the ensuing general meeting.

Clause 12. Finance.

I think the Secretary should receive all monies. Some Hon. Treasurers take their duties seriously - some do not, regarding the position as one of honour and not work ! Besides it is best that monies be paid to the Organisation and routed through the Secretaries Office, as otherwise some may be sent to the Hon. Treasurer and some to the organisation, and the former may be kept in abeyance for sometime before being handed to the Secretary. This makes for inefficiency, loss of time, complains about delay in sending receipts and so on. I have had too much experience of such delays and troubles.

The real duty of the Hon. Treasurer is to versee the keeping of the books: make recommendations after discussions with the Secretary as to auditors to be appointed, the state of the finances and if these are dangerously low to suggest remedies, to prepare, with the secretary, a monthly financial report, and an annual report for the annual general meeting, and generally to exercise a general supervision.

In (ii) add "abnually" after "audited" in line 2.

In (iii) I suggest the word "officer" in the last line, be deleted and the word "person" substituted. This will enable the Exco to authorise one of its members to be a signing officer. I have found, generally, that it is sufficient for one officer, or other person, to sign cheques with the Secretary countersigning. There is often a waste of time if the Secretary has to find two persons to sign. I think the provision should be that cheques be signed by the Hon. Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary. In the event of the Hon. Treasurer not being available, any other person, authorised by the Exco.

Sub-clause (1V) is not necessary. This is the job of the Exco. I feel that somewhere provision should be made for stating the financial year of the organisation.

Clause 13 Committees.

I suggest that it be provided that each sub-committee shall elect its own Chairman.
