

COMPARISONS OF THE STAR AND THE RAND DAILY MAIL REPORTS,

26 and 27 January, 1966.

The Star: 26 January, 1966

Noon edition (out by 1.15 p.m.)

Headlines: bold type over six columns: ($\frac{1}{2}$ inch type)

Three shock namings at the Fischer hearing.

Smaller headline over three columns: ($\frac{3}{4}$ inch type)

And court is told of mystery U.K. agent.

First paragraph over three columns: ($\frac{1}{8}$ inch type)

Money for furthering subversion was brought into South Africa through the Defence and Aid Fund, the Institute of Race Relations and the Christian Institute, said the prosecutor at the start of the Abram Fischer inquiry in the Johannesburg Regional Court today.

Nothing further about the Institute mentioned in the body of the report.

Stop Press edition (out by 2.45 p.m.):

Headlines exactly the same as in noon edition.

Report the same as in noon edition except that the sub-heads are slightly differently positioned although the wording is the same and there is an extra $6\frac{3}{4}$ inches of report at the end.

The positioning is the same on the front page but the second part of the report appears on Page 3 instead of page 9 as in the noon edition.

Still no mention of the Institute in the body of the report.

City Late edition (out by 4.45 p.m.)

Headlines: bold type over six columns: ($\frac{1}{2}$ inch type)

Mystery agent story in Fischer hearing.

Smaller headline over three columns: ($\frac{1}{4}$ inch type)

Court told of outside 'subversion' money.

Mention of the Institute occurs in the third paragraph in small type but larger than that in the body of the report:

Mr. Liebenberg said that money for furthering subversion was brought into South Africa through the Defence and Aid Fund, the Institute of Race Relations and the Christian Institute.

Note: In a box at the foot of the third column where the report breaks off there is an explanation about the prosecutor's slip about Christian Action and Christian Institute.

Rand Daily Mail: 27 January, 1966

Headlines: over three columns, ($\frac{5}{16}$ inch type)

State begins etc.

No mention of Institute or subversion in headlines of whatever size.

Mention: in body of report in undifferentiated type:

Mr. Liebenberg said Fischer received financial aid through Kim in London from time to time. He handled the party funds. Money came into South Africa in devious ways - "through the fictitious Wilson account; or through the agency of Defence and Aid; the Christian Action; and even the South African Institute of Race Relations."

Fischer distributed the money to the various provinces and to African townships for the recruiting of would-be saboteurs.

No further mention of the Institute.
