KIMBERLEY, AUGUST 8, 1911.

BASUTOLAND AND TRANSKEI.

THIS public should devote a little more attention to the Official reports which are presented, from time to time, in the form of Blue Books.

The Resident Commissioner's Reports on Basutoland is now before us, and Oh! that these hard facts and cold figures were only read, especially by those people who are never as happy as when they utter their patriotism, etc., (shall we say?) over South Africanism. Almost like the Zulus under Shaka, the Basutos are rarely kind, the Basutos are a heterogeneous consolidation of their own of the diplomacy of their chief, Chief Moshoeshoe somewhere about the time Queen Victoria assembled the British Thrown so that as a nation, the Basutos are not quite 100 years old. That probably is the reason why the first Parliamentaries always called them Besuthians.

From 1835 to 1868 was a period of constant conflict, in which they were alternately taken under the protection of the British Government and abandoned again to their own resources. They were never finely served by that Government from the time, when on the point of losing their country, they had been handed over to Cape Colonial rule. With this history they had first the Xhosa War, and then, again, from 1880 to 1892, the diamond war. It has only been since the British Government definitely took the country over from the Zulus at the end of that war, that the Basutos have had a real chance to prosper.

How they have progressed since that date is shown in connection with both this report and the Rev. E.

Jacobson's lecture at Durban last month. The Rev. E. Jacobson and the 400,000 people of Basutoland are confined to little over 4,000 square miles of land that being the hilly portion of this mountainous country. It is therefore, all the more interesting to learn from the Resident Commissioner's report that the report from the Protectorate amounted, in the year under review, £805,10, to £249,884, an increase of £156,742 on the year before. Import came to £278,894, or an increase of close on £20,000.

The chief items of export were Wool, £19,024; maize, £11,301;

Angora hair, £4,721; wheat £29,078; castor, £9,813; horses

£7,536. In imports the chief items were: Blankets and shawls, £14,430; haberdashery and millinery, £1,014; cotton goods, £3,015; and apparel

£1,773. Agricultural implements, £4,941; and animals, principally horses to improve the breeds of horses and cattle, £4,120. Herein increased £298,515, for the year before, to £19,974, and expenditure came to £10,444, leaving a surplus of £1,530. The country has a good number of children in the elementary schools as 13,371 as against 11,751 in the preceding year. Statistics furnished by the Post Office are especially interesting. This postal orders were issued in the territory to the value of £17,712, and to the value of £17,379, while £1,500 was deposited in the Savings Bank and £2,058 withdrawn. The population of Basutoland at the last cenus in 1911 was 349,000, showing a decrease of 1,000 from the previous year. The chief items of expenditure for the Native Department were the Native Education Fund, the Native Health Fund, and the Native

Land Fund.

There was a case of native revolte in 1910, and the Native Department had to make a large sum available for its settlement. The result was that the Native Department had to make a large sum available for the Native Education Fund, and the Native Health Fund.

Here, There and Everywhere.

The Prince of Wales has been appointed High Commissioner of the Native Affairs of South Africa.

Sir Charles Abrahams Smith has been relieved from the office of Vice-Chairman of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, and will be succeeded by Professor Walter of Stellenbosch, who will hold office for two years.

The following appears in the Material paper.—Birth.—At Matjiesfontein, on the 16th July, the wife of Mr. Ernest Trotter Alton, Taken, a son, Mather, and a daughter well, likewise the Bath corpus dicit."

The "South African Medical Record" states that the Native paramedics had been placed at the disposal of Dr. Long the surgeon-in-charge for a short time, and that the erection of the hospital and the necessary buildings will be promptly and well.

There are now about seven hundred pipers in the territory.

The opening of the rather plain station of Ashton has been brought to light a new post office, known as "hills garrison." It is generally believed that the new station is coming slowly.
The part of this new town seems appropriate enough; and if it be must come soon, it is good to have this is not hurry.

A Master paper tells us that in mail with a series which was administered by Thomas R. Feller, Attorney General of Georgia, by Judge Emory Rosen of the United States Court, for the trial of the "bigamist," Judge Emory has given a verdict in Feller's favor, one of the words that he had dictated the attorney general as im-modest in an unusually manner.

Feller is instrumental for several white men who are under indictment for murder, in making the case to the jury Feller suggested it referred to the defendant as "bigamist."

Finally Judge Speer said: "Mr. Feller, don't you think the future Attorney General of the State of Georgia can spare us this 'nigger, nigger, nigger? It is indeed an anomaly of a great condition of justice and in a worthy of your position at the bar to be abiding to those poor unfortunate people in the lower terms of degradation?"

Feller replied: "I hope I know my rights and responsibilities as a lawyer as an American lawyer practicing in an American court."

Judge Speer retorted: "You are a zealous and zealous right, and if you have on this life and insist upon this language, which is nothing but a mockery to the lowest degree, I will not be bound by your reasons, but only in this case in all cases that comes. I do not care what language the American judiciary will rule in the future, but I am bound by the law of each country in the presence of a court of justice on the part of a gentleman who as a condition precedent to his election to the bar has agreed to the same."

Native Questions Discussed.

SCHEME OF LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

INTERESTING INTERVIEW

A representative of "South Africa" has had an interesting chat with the Rev. J. Tom Brown, of Kuruman, Bechuanaland, who has laboured for a quarter of a century as a missionary among the natives. "He has been in the quiet section of his temporary home at Surhuse."

The first question put by our representative had reference to our NATIVE EDUCATION.

and in reply Mr. Brown said that there was a movement afoot throughout the whole of South Africa for the establishment of a Native State College, which would occupy a position similar to that of the University, but for the Europeans. "It of course," added Mr. Brown, "will be more use at the present time to the natives of the coast Colonies than to those of the interior. But, for the latter, the Lower Missionaries have established their own college at Tiger Kloof, near Vryburg, where they are trained industrially, and the practice of teaching and theology, with the object of providing them with the means of livelihood among their own people, and also providing them with a knowledge of ordinary elementary education.

The native evangelists and parsons of the Church will, it is undoubtedly in the interests of natives, let us hope, be able to conquer the temptations that are there at every corner in the open mines."

"My calm conviction after 25 years' study of the Kimberley compound system is that it is undoubtedly a beneficial effect upon the natives."

"The Kimberley compound system is a great improvement over anything we ever got from the Europeans."

Proof of the native's opinion of the Kimberley compartment system is to be found in the fact that they return again and again to the same compound system, and that they remain at every corner in the open mines, and it produces a type of native community which is as far as necessary, but teaching of ordinary elementary education.

mines."

EXPANSION OF THE EMPIRE

POSITION OF THE NATIVE RACES

The first universal Congress of Races is now proceeding in London, under the auspices of the London University. It is much to be desired that the problem of the future of the native races under British rule will be discussed in a clear, full, and scientific manner. The problems of immense importance and legal general interest. Is this?

Can we reasonably expect that such native races will remain under control (even supposing that they are so now) to be ruled and governed by a minority of white men? At time goes on, and native races become more and more educated, civilized, and Christian, will the white population in those lands be prepared to receive the black man upon an equality in every sphere of life? And if he is not received, what will he do, supposing, as is the case, that he is On his way to make such a movement to see at once their tremendously growth. The fate of some parts of our Empire and that of ourselves of our own race is bound in the answer. Time alone can answer in full, but science and history have some striking lessons to impart in the greater lesson which apparently are not fully learned.

The scientific method applied to imperial policy means the study of the past with a view to the future. Now, history has striking lesson in racial conquests and their results, and the lesson is not a reassuring one. It is studied in detail in Archibald Reid's recent work ("Principles of History"), to which our readers should turn for a full discussion of the problem.

WHAT DOES HISTORY TEACH?
To state that lesson in a few words, it is that the conquest of a native race, in order to be permanent, must be accompanied sooner or later by the extermination of the native, or the intermarriage of the conqueror with the conquered.
The Spanish conquest of the West Indies was followed by the soft disappearance of the natives, whose place was filled by the importation of negroes from Africa.
The original natives were wiped out.

After the discovery of America, the leading maritime nations of Spain and Portugal chose what they thought to be the richest portion in the tropical parts.
They intermarried largely with the natives, and thus this mixed race inhabits the civilised portion of tropical America. Pure aborigines are now found only in bands of savages in the interior. French immigration largely increased the white race of North America, while there was little intermarriage. The original native disappeared.

In Australia, again, the climate suited the colonist as in North America, he increased rapidly and intermarried not at all. The black man made farther and farther inland, dwindling in numbers whatever he remained, until at last he became extinct. This was due to a number of causes, but mainly to a political factor. The native disappeared.

There is no native question in Australia. The same is true of Tasmania. The native is extinct.

But look for a moment at another scientific aspect of the case, that of the native in new settlements. There is a native in new settlements in South Africa.

There was extermination, but not of the native race, but of the white race.

It played its part in the Old World for centuries, wedging out the weaker and leaving the fitter to survive, until in course of time most European races care less about the native race.

Friend of the Bechuanas

KIMBERLEY, OCTOBER 1, 1911.

I am black, not ugly. O my daughters of Africa, I am the mate of Kadar and the victim of Adonis.

"Look not upon me because I am ugly, for the sun has looked upon me and I have been made so by them; they made me the prey of their vineyard, but my own vineyard have I not kept."
