My dear Benjie,

It was a pleasure to have you and Anne around for the weekend, though it worries me to know that every time you come over we have to concern ourselves at some time or other during the visit with such mundane things as school fees and like matters closely bound up with filthy lucre - instead of engaging throughout in academic discussion as befits a research scholar of Wisconsin and a budding associate professor at Harvard.

A pleasure also was it to hear your voice over the phone, an indication that you did not die over the Easter weekend like that other Jew two thousand centuries ago. It appears that he was quite an agitator - not at all a long bearded Zionist pacifist.

I am enclosing herewith a copy of the letter I sent you on the 12th November, 1970 regarding my studies.

^{cost}As you will see the R160.00 does not include the purchase of books.

As for the books mentioned in the letter you may disregard those and take as approved those appearing in the list I gave you.

Thanks for all the help, Benjie. Looking forward to your next visit. Love to Anne and the children.

Affectionately,

Beb Bob

My dear Benjie,

Thank you for your letter and the telephone call.
I shall reserve personal matters for our congress on the 25th December, 1970 DEO - VOLENTI.

Here I am only giving you the information you required regarding my studies.

The fees at R30.00 per subject plus R10.00
Registration fee work out as follows.

1970: R130.00 (I enrolled for Latin but didnt write it. Far from ready)

1971: R160.00

1972: R160.00 (provisional)

As for books, the position is I don't know what books I'll require in the third year. But the position for this year and next year is as follows:

1970 (bought) R65.00

1971 Swift: The South African Law of Criminal Procedure (latest edition)

Cilliers and Benade: Company Law.

Wille and Millin : Mercantile Law (latest edition)

Henry John May: South African Cases and Statute on Evidence in South Africa (latest)

De Wet and Swanepoel: Die Suidafrikaanse
Strafreg (2nd ed)

R.W. Lee An introduction to Roman Dutch Law
(5th ed)

Case Books obtainable from University.

of ~~the~~ R2.00 each R8.00

Hahlo and Kahn: The Union of South Africa:
The Development of its Laws and Constitution.

Van der Heever: Breach of Promise and Seduction in South African Law.

There will probably be other books required. I shall know that when I receive my lectures next year and I'll let you know.

Veronica is leaving for Lesotho Tuesday the 10th November, to fetch one of the twins who's writing Std VL Will write again soon.

Love to Anne and the Kids.

Affectionately,

Rob.
