

23 Lynton Road,
KLOOF,
Natal, South Africa.

28th December, 1959.

The Features Editor,
DAILY MAIL,
Carmelite Street,
LONDON E.C.4.

Dear Sir,

By this same mail I have airmailed to you between 1000 and 1100 words. On Mr. Hose's advice, I left the title and subtitling to you. He also suggested that I should make it clear who the South Africans Liberals are, and I send the following note, should you care to use it:-

The South African Liberal Party believes in a non-racial society where the State guarantees certain fundamental liberties to its citizens, where even the highest authorities in the land are subject to the rule of law. It therefore, in the South African context, believes in a rigid constitution, containing a Bill of Rights, and it opposes compulsory apartheid in any form whatsoever. Its members are drawn from all the racial groups of the country and reject apartheid in their private lives.

Please note that I addressed the article merely to "Features Editor, DAILY MAIL, LONDON", not having the full address in my possession at that time. I assume however that even without the full address, there will be no delay in delivery of the letter.

Yours faithfully,

Collection Number: AD1169

Collection Name: Alan Paton Papers, 1952-1988

PUBLISHER:

Publisher: Historical Papers Research Archive, University of the Witwatersrand

Location: Johannesburg

©2016

LEGAL NOTICES:

Copyright Notice: All materials on the Historical Papers website are protected by South African copyright law and may not be reproduced, distributed, transmitted, displayed, or otherwise published in any format, without the prior written permission of the copyright owner.

Disclaimer and Terms of Use: Provided that you maintain all copyright and other notices contained therein, you may download material (one machine readable copy and one print copy per page) for your personal and/or educational non-commercial use only.

People using these records relating to the archives of Historical Papers, The Library, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, are reminded that such records sometimes contain material which is uncorroborated, inaccurate, distorted or untrue. While these digital records are true facsimiles of paper documents and the information contained herein is obtained from sources believed to be accurate and reliable, Historical Papers, University of the Witwatersrand has not independently verified their content. Consequently, the University is not responsible for any errors or omissions and excludes any and all liability for any errors in or omissions from the information on the website or any related information on third party websites accessible from this website.

This document forms part of the archive of the South African Institute of Race Relations, held at the Historical Papers Research Archive, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, South Africa.