THIS month sees a turning point in black politics in this country. The United Democratic Front (UDF) will be formed, and the names of the people behind it all are impressive.

They go across the whole spectrum of our struggle. Names like Mrs Albertinah Sisulu, who needs no introduction, veteran trade unionist Archie Gumede, old-time civic leader Mr Oscar Mphetha and a host of others.

We have over the years stressed that violence will not ever solve this country's problems. But talking will. The groups who have ranged themselves with the UDF are those who have opted for a re-alignment of black aspirations and a reduction of the tensions that beset this land - especially among blacks.

Here's hoping that their deliberations will bear fruit.
