It is a well known fact that some of the advocates of this policy, among whom is included the Minister of Native Affairs, have repeatedly, without being asked, stated that the policy of apartheid was not intended to retard the was not intended to retard the progress of the African people but to give them equal opportunities to develop along their own lines.
Recently Dr. A. L. Geyer, South

He said: "The policy of apartheid or separate development is certainly not one of oppression. After all, only an imbecile would imagine that a policy of oppression could end in anything but disaster. It certainly is a policy to perpetuate the separateness of the races in the country. It does aim races in the country. It does aim at enabling the whites to preserve their identity and to continue to develop as a white nation. But it aims at more than this. It aims at making it possible for the Bantu also to develop to their fullest extent as a separate people. In this way it aims at creating those harmonious racial relations which are essential for the country's

The real object of this removal is to destroy the right of Africans to free-hold title. It is realised by the powers that be that once the African has title to the land be African has title to the land he occupies, position of white baaskap will become untenable. Important Mission To The Transkei

A young African who will leave at the end of the month on an important mission to the Transkei, is 26-year-old Samuel Motsuenyane. There he will interview the chiefs and important European officials, and investigate the possibility of forming a voluntary African soil conservation movement in the re-

"My task is to tell my fellow Africans that they too must unite in a great movement to save the soil of our country." Mr. Motsuenyane said in an interview.

"Our land can no longer grow sufficient food to feed our people, and the position is growing desperate. The winter will be a hard one for all of us.

We have to take immediate measures to stop the wastage of soil. It must come from the offers of our people themselves in a voluntary movement such as that initiated among the Europeans by the National Veld Trust.

"Unless the wrong farming methods of our African farmers are checked, there will be starvation in the land. We shall be among the first to suffer.'

A graduate of the Jan Hofmeyr School of Social Science, a linguist, and an aspirant Bachelor of Arts, Mr Motsuenyane is well fitted for his task.

He is now reaching the end of an intensive five months training course with European soil conservation experts in Johannesburg. The first part of his mission to wake Africans to their individual responsibility towards the protection of the soil will be in the nature of a three months survey.

He will tour the Transkei, find out what must be done to launch such a movement, and seek the cooperation of chiefs and officials in forming organisations. These organisations will help to educate the African people and show them how to improve their farming methods. "It is the start of a great African movement in the fight against hunger," Mr. Motsuenyane said.

While in Germany I also made a study of the educational system of the country. On this I shall write in future. I have seen very many cities, towns and villages in Germany. Let me mention only these: Frankfurt, Hamburg, Mannheim, Wiesbaden with its hot springs, Darmstadt, Griinstadt, Worms famous as the seat of the "Diet of Worms" and for Martin Luther's status surrounded by the Luther's statue surrounded by the statutes of other reformers, Koln, Boan the capital of Western Ger-many, Koblenz and Stuttgart one of Germany's loveliest cities and, in the Psalmist's phrase about Mount Zion, "beautiful for situa-

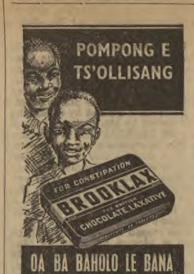

Our Transvaal Heidelberg must have been named after Germany's Heidelberg which is 800 years old and is the centre of Germany's oldest university. Not only is this city steeped in history but, like Stuttgart it is also "beautiful for structure".

It stands on the River Neekar, and to see it at its best one has to climb the mountain, as I did, along "Philosophers" Road," so named because Germany's philo-sophers, Hegel, Kant and others, all walked along this road to en-joy a marvellous view of this city of culture.

On the opposite side of the Nee-kar to which we crossed by one of Germany's most famous and beautiful bridges which is said to have inspired one of Goethe's poems, stands, high above the city, the famous Castle of Heidelberg. A splendid view of the city is also to be gained from here. Before going to the castle I visited the historic Church of the Holy Ghost and stood in the pul pit from which Martin Luther preached some of his Reformation sermons. More could be said but

This last month in Europe has been one of the most wonderful months in my life. After two ecumenical conferences at Ebernburg, Germany, I spent a week visiting places and addressing meetings in the French, American and British Zones of Germany. The Basle Mission Society under whose auspices the conferences were held, atranged a splendid our for some of us.

As we travelled by van we were able to gain a fairly detailed knowledge of Germany and the Germans.

During the 21 days that I was in Germany I delivered, apart from minor talks. 21 addresses, I present the conferences of Germany and the Germans.

During the 21 days that I was in Germany I delivered, apart from minor talks. 21 addresses, I presched four sermons to internsely interested congregations who attended in unusually large numbers. At Heldelberg 2,000 people filled a very large church and the places covered more or less the same ground, namely the work of the Christian Mission in Africa and our problems. I was simply amazed at the numbers who attended these meetings rave and there were those who could not gain entrance.

Isaiah 50; 4, I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is

A word is like an atomic bomb. While it can be an instrument of peace and construction, it can be a weapon of war and destruction. And how often is it the latter! It is amazing how many of us use our tongue for spitting venom at our fellow-men, and thus surrounding ourselves with an armounting ourselves with an army of enemies.

The ability to speak a word that refreshes the weary, that makes friends is a sign of good education. Isaiah says. "The Lord God hath opened mine ear," after saying, "The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary."

This sort of statement is unsports manifike and misleading. Greb hus never declined to fight Mckenzie, and the two should have met this Friday night in Johannesburg. All of a sudden Mckenzie broke off from this proposed fight. Mr. Stanley Makuba, matchmaker, tried very hard to stage the Circle-Mckenzie title fight, Mr. Singh, maisted that the right should nike place in Durban. afferied to meet Mckenzie, Transvaal has produced very good welters in many up and coming lads, as Fondie Mayuso, Kid Everlasting, Black Hawk, Cuban Hawk, Paul Symons and many others. All these boxers, if given a chance will be a threat to Mckenzie.

be a threat to Mckenzie. I have great respect for Mr. Singh. as a man who has done a lot for non-European boxing in the Union. I have been acquainted with him during my stay in Durban, but it is my duty to correct him where he is wrong. I am not the least suggesting that he should not comment on his boy, but in the interest of boxing facts are needed.

BANTU WORLD

DEAR CHILDREN.

Some of our J.B.W. club members have written to tell me that they are now preparing for the June tests. I am sure you are studying hard to pass and I wish you all the best in your tests,

On June 14, a special supplement will be published for inclusion in the usual weekly issue of The Bantu World. This supplement is full of very interesting pictures and also contains a full story of the beginning, growth, destruction, re-birth, development and future plans of The Bantu World in the service of mankind-especially to our people. The whole story, is a fascinating history of a newspaper which has lived through many difficulties and hardships in its determination to help build up the culture and progress of the African people. Many of the people who contribute messages of good wishes in the supplement were children of your own age when The Bantu World was first published! They read it with interest throughout the years and to-day after 21 years, they look back and relate the story of how the paper has served them. From the supplement you will get a very big lesson—a lesson that comes to you at the right time when you are preparing yourselves for the future-that of perseverance, determination and hard work.

Please make sure of getting a copy of this supplement by arranging with the local Bantu World agents or writing to MALOME who will make all the arrangements for you. Malome's address is: MALOME, Bantu World, P.O. Box 6663, Johannesburg.

Please answer them and send your answers to Malome. Those who have correct answers will have their names published in our column after three weeks: (1) What is the capital town of the Transvaal, Cape Province, Orange Free State and Natal Province? (2) Who is the Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa? (3) Who was Prime Minister before him? (4) Which is the official language of the Union of South Africa? (5) What is the name of the one and only University College for Africans in the Union of South Africa?

Here are a few simple questions.

My postbag: I thank the following J.B.W. club members for their letters: Johanna Molatlhoa, C. Manock, Elias P. Our picture is of Joshua Makunga of Heilbron, He asks all J.B.W. club members Tsolo, Napoleon Ntwasa (who congratulates J.B.W. member Eunice Moo remember his face! goase of Roodepoort for her interesting story which appeared in the issue of May 10), Isaac Thapeli, Robert Buthelezi, Robinson Matseke, Pearl Malanda.

New Members: We are happy to welcome the following new members to the J.B.W. club: Pearl Malanda, Robert Buthelezi, Isaac Thapeli, Napoleon Ntwasa, Elias P. J. Tsolo.

Pen-pals: Napoleon Ntwasa, of 41, New Location, Roodepoort, wants pen-pals from all over the country. Theresia Lebona, 433, Metsing Street, B. Location, Kroonstad, asks for penpals. Claudia Ntlokotsi, of 637 Borman Street, B. Location, Kroonstad, asks for a pen-pal, a girl or boy of 16 years of age.

Address requested: Watson Nganjo of Messina asks for the address of Richard Morgets-it is Graskop United School,

Sympathy for Claudia Ntlokotsi: Expressing sympathy for Claudia Ntlokotsi who was reported to be suffering from sore eyes, Watson Nganjo writes: "Allow me to say in a few words how profoundly grieved I was to hear the terrible news about Claudia Ntlokotsi who is suffering eye trouble. I simply cannot find words in which to express to her, profound sympathy, a life of promise and goodness. It is shocking. May God sustain her." I am sure Claudia will, as much as we do, appreciate this kindly gesture, Watson.

Laughs: These good "laughts" were sent in by J.B.W. club member Joseph K. Moree, of Klerksdorp: "The school inspector decided to test the class before him by asking a few questions: 'Now boys," he began, "what do we get out of the earth besides Coal and Iron?" For a few moments there was dead silence but finally Daniel put up his hand and stammered: P-Ple-Please, Sir. it's worms.

A class teacher asked his pupils to give him a sentence with the following words: Cat, fence, detail, went and body. Johnny stood up, and with a brave voice said: "Cat went over de fence and then de body and de tail." Thanks, Joseph! I'm sure J.B.W. members will enjoy the Orlando on Sunday next June 8 at 2 p.m. Far and wide, tribute has been paid to Mrs. Motsieloa for her lone effort to keep children busy and to teach them to use their sparetime profitably outside the classroom.

Smiling Mrs. Motsieloa told me that she enjoys joining company with children and spending an afternoon or two during the week humming traditional and classical numbers. Here you see them singing "EBhai."

Ask all those who attended the big show sponsored by the Johannesburg Bantu Music Festival Committee in the City Hall recently how Mrs. Motsieloa's Children's Choir rendered "eBhai." They will tell you lots about it! The D.O.C.C. concert on June 8 will include Benoni Choristers, Germiston Songsters, featuring Mr. Todd Matshikiza on the piano, vocalist Edith Liphuko and a number of rising soloists. It is expected to be a grand music feast for Orlando.

The Apostolic Faith Mission School Choir, Western Township, Johannesburg will broadcast by landline of the South African Broadcasting Coroporation (Bantu Programme) on Thursday morning, May 29 states the principal of the school Mr. France Flaan Ntsie. According to information available, this will be the first time in history of broadcasting a school choir has had this opportunity

News has reached me that Mr. John Ngcobo and his company called Zulu Singers are doing well in their series of shows in England. Ngcobo and his company concentrate on Bantu traditional airs. Among, the group is Lionel Ngakane, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ngakane of Orlando, Johannesburg filmstar of "Cry, The Beloved Country." Two Europeans at present on a tour of the Union told me that Ngcobo's singing of the African national anthem, "Nkosi Sikelel" Afrika" is still ringing in their ears. Ngcobo sang the anthem before many nations of the world at Caux, Switzerland.-BATON.
