- 55 hialisana — means living together side by side. It could also mean they lived together harmoniously.
- 56 bantfu — generally means people. In this context it could refer to the subjects who were under the "inkhosi" of the Simelane clan and those who were under the "inkhosi" of the Maseko clan.
- 57 hambelana — literally means "go to each other". This means they visited each other, a sign that they had good relationship with each other.
- 58 fihlwa — literally means hide. It is also a euphemism for bury.
- 59 lashwa — the verb is derived from the verb "lapha" which means to treat medically.
- 60 lungiselwa — a verb derived from the verb "lungiseja" which means to prepare for.
- 61 Umsebenti — generally means work. In this context, it could mean a function.
- 62 emaswati — a synonym for bakaMgwane. Generally it refers to the people of Swaziland.

- 88 yakha — means build. It could also mean to start something afresh or anew.
- 89 londvulotwa — means store safely for future use or keep something safe.
- 90 ngenkhangala — "inkhangala" <sup>up country?</sup> generally is an open veld with few trees. The prefix "nge-" is a locative whose English equivalent could be 'by'. It indicates the direction by which the Masekos came to Mqabane.

We will yakha<sup>88</sup> it ("new country") with them in the new place.
