

down, because I had regard it as a trap, what could be used against me on bail application when the time comes, I had been here about 3 weeks. It was a pool of blood asked, when I was refusing to answer questions, whether I was interested in an out-rise. I said no, but that if that was an offer, as a man with family I would feel obliged to put the matter to you as quickly as I could. Just asking, I still intend to use that fact in my bail application - I said when. Just before I ran out of space - can you please try & get for me a full picture of what happened to those the others when the 90 days was up, did they then handies told anything in advance? If so, were they told day after of their "release" How did release in fact take place - how long

(5) were they allowed to go? Where were the ops?
i.e. they themselves told they were being released just in order to be re-arrested? Was their release in fact exactly 90 days after their arrest? To the day, or also the hour? These questions are beginning to loom fairly large on our horizons, now that the days are almost over, and the day of this crisis is already within thinking distance. Personally do not believe that either all this escaping we will get out of jail at all, except to be charged. But if not charged by 90th day, does the CT habeas corpus judgment have any significance, Does it for example, make the point that you MUST be outside a jail to be properly released. And if so, for how long?
Also, are any Habeas corpus cases pending, & do the of kept records think the CT judgment was well founded - that there is no chance of getting a different ruling on the TV? / Also at my cell here. My cell is approx 15' x 8'. It has a table - the size of that little blue one we use in the garden only, round height, and a hard wooden stool, backless. In one corner is a small pattern, on which it enthroned the 'sanitary pot' scullied. The wall is all there is a square window about 8/9 feet up, barred, with wire mesh over it, pretty glassed with glass a heavy crystal in dust that you really see through a glass dully. Though it looks sky, and just the tip of a brick gable of the jail hospital. Blanket is the bed mat on which we sleep most. We kept it rolled & folded against the table from can tell supper. Clothes, food, toilet articles etc are either neatly laid out on table, or kept in paper carrier bags. For some reason known only to the dissonant civil service mind, no suit cases or bags of any sort are allowed - only paper carrier bags, or toilet cardboard boxes! At to supper time, does not the placed outside cell doors - for some especially obvious reason, a curtain, then till breakfast. So in these days, something to spend the day. Can only work at night, when some chance, interruptions etc are reduced. The light is coming, recessed into the wall behind some mesh, so as to throw a beam of light across the cells and leave everything below at high in shadow. It is out of view blind, must be partly the result of working in this gloom, but mainly of my needlework efforts, which I hope you will agree have improved since white cotton was received, (there sent in a packet on Sunday, 15th would be appreciated!) This gloom led me to think seriously about the problem of 'threading needles' and my latest invention is a really threading gadget, which I think will work but won't know till I try, and it does should earn me the Nobel prize. Has never been here prepared to put up with this nonsense for so many years (don't know - in the machine age too! Personally, he's really been very great - ever since your last visit in fact - were relaxed, less tense, depressed, worried. In fact, I think I have now just really adapted myself to this life. If it be dates etc, is so long delayed. Anyway, I really want to the pair die traumatic events of a class, etc and the least I shall go through every time of other go out of my head it would be fine. Each idea of anything to be really trying, but all the smart, that people would get it, and in any case putting, nothing in yourself or work effective than something in your food? Personally, I am finding the night worse now than the days, lights out at 6 pm try to do exercises etc to keep me up till about 8/30. But then I wake at 3 am, at the next period till 5/30 is spent tossing & turning, having terrible nightmares etc. Write and send I often anticipate getting up and packing. But next morning So I just stay & suffer. Must finish this page tonight, as I don't want to leave this overnight. Must get it started up, so just a few old thoughts. My last note must have mixed you up with the date etc, is so long delayed. Anyway, I really think, to carry out the suggestion about the post. In any case, scrap the whole idea. Can't hide it, and it had to be either last second, would be too awkward to be worth while. In any case, please note that mine is approx 15th / For some reason, you're getting now to help only, but have a window for title of a double notes from me. 'Babysitting' at the Gate, which just about say, it, I think. Finally, now that you have signed, you may understand the over-riding which I decided on when I first dressed up signal, and am going to keep until used or unless, although I am finding it altogether a nuisance, pretty uncomfortable - a pain in the face. Will carry on checking tomorrow or Sat.
