Dear Sir,

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant, forwarding six copies of memoranda on a proposal to establish a Civilian Conservation Corps for Africans, I am directed to inform you that it is regretted that, owing to a very full timetable at Cape Town which included visits to several schools in the Western Province, it has not been possible for the Commission to fix a date on which to meet you before you return to Johannesburg.

The Commission is completing its investigation here at the end of the month and will resume its sittings at Pretoria, and possibly Johannesburg, during April and May, when it will be glad to give you an opportunity of tendering evidence in connection with the proposed establishment of a Civilian Conservation Corps.

You will be advised of the place and date as soon as the Commission's time-table for the coming months has been drawn up.

Dear Mr. Scheepers.

NATIONAL VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

During the past eighteen months a committee of this Institute has, from time to time, considered proposals for mass vocational training for the youth of all races on lines in many ways similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps. of the United States of America. I enclose copies and memorandum RR. 127/45.

At a recent meeting of the Transvaal Research Committee of this Institute a memorandum prepared by Dr. E. Johl and myself (copies herewith) was considered, and it was decided to ask your Organisation to consider the possibilities of the proposals, and, if they commend themselves to your Organization, to suggest joint representations to the Minister of Education on them.

I shall be gled to discuss these memoranda with you or your Committee.

Yours sincerely,

NATIONAL VOCATIONAL TRAINING

AND

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

DRAFT MEMORANDUM ON PROPOSED CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS (FOR MATIONAL VOCATIONAL TRAINING AND SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT):

PREAMBLE.

Recognising that large sections of the people of all races grow into adult-hood ill-prepared both educationally and socially for life and work with adverse effects upon the human resources of the country and its social and economic development;

that the Government and People of South Africa have a moral responsibility with all the means at their disposal to make a special effort to advance the welfare and happiness of those sections of the population who, because of social, educational, economic and other shortcomings beyond their control, cannot maintain a satisfactory level of living or contribute adequately to the national economy;

that, despite their handicaps, all these sections of the population possess potential abilities of great value to the country capable of development;

that the full development of these abilities is possible through the use of educational and social measures;

that when developed these abilities should, for their welfare and the advancement of the country, be used for the development of the national resources through suitable employment:

it is proposed that organisations be created, under the general name of CIVILIAN CONSERVATION—CORPS, to provide education and vocational training for the youth of all races and to assist them, after training, into employment advantageous to themselves and useful to the country; and that the education and training shall aim at helping the youth of all races to attain to satisfactory standards of fitness, knowledge, health and discipline, as well as cultivating in them the appropriate moral incentives and attitudes.

METHODS.

The methods to be used by the Civilian Conservation Corps will be fundamentally educational in character, and will deal with the vast numbers of all races between the ages of 14 and 19 who are not catered for by the existing post primary educational facilities — scholastic or vocational — because they have not the necessary educational qualifications or do not live in the areas where such facilities exist or for other reasons. These vast numbers are not equipped for life or for work, they live at a low level, and are inefficient workers. Many become a burden upon the State as offenders or paupers. It is paramountly important that steps be taken at once to prevent this waste of the country's human resources by providing some form of training facilities. Existing training facilities — scholastic and vocational — are available only to small numbers in each racial section of the population. It is intended, through the Civilian Conservation Corps to make some form of vocational training available to all between 14 and 19 who do not benefit from existing facilities. The varied kinds of training required, the large numbers involved, the special measures that will be necessary to link up the training with the economic needs of the country, and the necessity for assisting those trained to find suitable employment - all make it necessary to organise the training under the special conditions of the Civilian Conservation Corps, with separate organisations for each racial section. It is believed, however, that the scheme can be established and operated under the Higher Education Act, which is administered by the Union Department of Education.

The training must include such measures as are necessary to enable the youth to reach and maintain a satisfactory degree of physical fitness, and vocational competence. The Training must also be linked with employment under approved conditions ensuring progressive training and remuneration.

ORGANISATION.

The Civilian Conservation Corps should consist of autonomous organisations, for European, Cape Coloured and Indian, and African, each controlled by its own Council, making its own appointments and responsible for the finance and administration of the organisation.

Each organisation should have power to establish training centres, to which youths between 14 and 19 years of age would be admitted with the consent of their parents or guardians, for stated periods, varying from year to years according to the nature of the training to be provided. No period should be less than is necessary to ensure physical fitness and as high a degree of competence as the trainee is capable of. Whilst enrolment must be voluntary, the training should be under the same sanctions as the compulsory education laws. At each training centre medical and dental care, educational, recreational and religious facilities would be provided, and all possible steps taken to raise the level of living, the health, efficiency, and moral life of the youths.

Each organisation should have power to enter into contracts for work to be done under training conditions.

N.B. It must be emphasised that trainees should be placed at training centres as near as possible to their homes so that their severance from home ties may not be too great, and that their practical training may be as closely related as possible to their home conditions and the needs of their areas.

Each organization should have power to remunerate trainees on a progressive basis in accordance with the work done by the trainees, and to arrange for deductions in respect of training fees, allowances to parents or guardians, and/or deferred pay.

Each organisation should be assisted to procure camps, buildings and other equipment now becoming available from the army organisation.

Each organisation should have the trained and experienced staff necessary for its varied and extensive programme.

FINANCE.

Whilst the organisations of the Civilian Conservation Corps should be subject to the provisions of the Higher Education Act in respect of State grants, special initial capital and maintenance grants from the State will be necessary.

NATIONAL VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

I write with reference to our letter of January 8th and your reply of January 15th and I shall be very glad to know what the opinion of your committee is on the idea of establishing a National Vocational Training Scheme for the youth of all races. Mr. Rheinallt Jones suggested that it might be desirable that joint representations be made to the Minister of Education in the matter.

The scheme has been before the Institute for many months and I feel that some decision regarding it could very fittingly be made soon.

Dear Mr. Whyte,

I write to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 8th instant and regret not having sent you any progress report after my letter of the 15th January. My Committee has given considerable thought to the matter and has had a Memorandum from Dr. Jokl not unlike the documents forwarded under cover of the letter of the 8th January.

My Committee, without expressing any particular opinion in the proposal to send a deputation to the Government, seems to feel that the whole training of the Youth of our country should be reviewed by way of examination to show :-

- (a) The labour requirements of the country.
- (b) The resources.

Having obtained this all-over picture it is possible to recommend steps to remedy deficiencies. We are hoping to hold a National Conference of all interested parties towards the end of this year. In view of certain obstacles which have been encountered we have not been able to take substantive action in the direction of advising all concerned. That also explains, why I am unable at this stage to send you more precise details but I hope to be able to let you have full details within the next few weeks.

African Vocational Training Service.

As you know the Institute over the past two - three years worked out a scheme for the vocational and technical training of Africans on a large scale. It was to be under the Higher Education Act. self financing or with initial government grant, and a constitution was drawn up and agreed to. The Social and Economic Planning Council also suggested the desirability of a Civilian Conservation Corps.

The General Purposes Committee is very anxious that this should not drop out of sight but it has suggested that we should await the Report of the de Villiers Commission before going any further. I told Major Rodseth, who favoured our scheme rather than that put forward by Col. Stubbs and Mockford, but we could not see our way to going further. Being overwhelmed and very tired I felt that some addition to the staff of the Institute would have to be made if the scheme were to be organized and made effective. This was some six months ago. I feel that there is something which we should be preparing to do when the elections are over, but I am a little undertain what. The Native Affairs Department has the Zwelitsha Training Scheme going and I do not quite see what the link up might be e.g. with it and with the Native Trust and the Native Affairs Department. Mr. Rheinallt Jones is preparing something on the Sudan Gezira Scheme.

What could be done, though I hesitate to do so because of the very heavy programme we have over May. June and early July, is to call a meeting of persons interested. That would include representatives of the trade Union world which is split and which might join in opposing everything that savoured of lower wages for Non-Europeans. I feel that the best preliminary step would be to get in touch with the Trade Union world informally to find out attitudes and what co-operation could be forthcoming. Dear Mr. Whyte,

I thank you for your letter of the 11th May regarding African vocational training services. I do not think that you should embark on a full time study of this matter before your assistant is appointed as I can appreciate the fact that you have a very heavy load at the moment.

The concrete suggestions which I should make are:-

(a) An interview with Dr. Mears; (b) if possible, an interview with Dr. Smit of the Native Affairs Commission; (c) a brief memorandum stating fairly clearly alternative lines of possible action; (d) a discussion on the basis of (a), (b) and (c) at the Executive meeting in July.

I do not think that the Secretary needs or would appreciate a lengthy memorandum. Two pages giving the essential facts would do. We could then, at the Executive Meeting, agree on the main lines of policy and leave you to get on with the job when you have more staff.

You must be your own judge about discussing the matter with the Trade Unions, but my own suggestion is that any contacts should be informal and that you should not risk of arousing opposition from unfriendly elements.

In response to your cable received on 23rd June, I have pleasure in enclosing copies of all available memoranda and minutes of committee meetings on the subject of mass vocational training for Africans. This will got you in chronological order the development of the scheme which, unfortunately, never came to fruition.

The Institute has for years been urging the establishment of some body, statutory or semi-statutory, to establish a mass vocational training sheme. Under the Higher Education Acts of the Union of South Africa such a scheme could have been initiated by the Union Education Department had there been sufficient moral support for it in the first place. I do not know whether it will be possible for you to work on the same lines in the Gold Coast, but the enclosed material may give you some guide as to the approach.

Dear Sir.

I write with reference to your letter 53/68 of 24/11/48 and the enclosed questionnaire.

This Institute has for many years been interested in the training of Africans in various fields of work. About three years ago it convened a representative committee to consider the vocational training of Africans on a large scale. It was hoped that as a result of experience gained during the war, by using equipment such as camps and hutments and by drawing on experience from other countries a national African Vocational Service might be brought into being. The Committee was widely representative and had on it amongst others, Dr. G.W. Mybers, formerly Director of Adult Education, and Mr. Rodseth of the Department of Native Affairs.

After prolonged discussion, records of which should be in the files of your Department, a final scheme was elaborated and Articles of Association drawn up. This I new enclose (R.R. 168/45) together with other relevant material.

I shall be very grateful if your Committee will give the proposed scheme its consideration. Before he left for meetings of UNESCO, I have Mr. Theron, Director of Abult Education, a copy of this material in which he expressed considerable interest. Members of my Committee will be only too glad to meet members of your Committee and the Institute will offer what help it can in the implementation of the scheme.

Yours faithfully,

Mr. A. Immink, P.O. Box 2636, JOHANNESBURG.

Dear Mr. Immink,

Thank you very much indeed for your survey of vocational training for Non-Europeams. It will be very useful. I have not been able to go through it in detail but I did notice that you said that Vlakfontein Industrial School was burned down. My colleague van Wyk says this is not so and I have asked him to check up.

I also notice you say that the number of students on the roll at Blythswood is 12. I know that they had a riot there and that many were sent home but when my wife taught there some time ago there were very many more than 12. There is a High school, a Training School, and there was a domestic training course which may have been stopped since then. There was also a large primary school.

I was also very surprised to see that at Love-dale there were only I bricklayer, 2 carpenters and one printer in the final year. When I was at Love-dale some six years ago, the "apprentices" numbered between 60 and 80. I know this for I had the doubtful pleasure of teaching Scripture while they sat three in a seat meant normally for two.

I understand that you wish to have your survey roneod. I'll get in touch with you by telephone about this.

Many thanks once more, Yours sincerely,
