(1) TUESDAY. Tim seems to be keeping its end up. Thank God. So just to complete nuts and bolts, I have been rather alone voice among my friends to several months. This has afraid. When I was younger, I would have been utterly certain I was right and they wrong. Now I'm rather more humble. I get feel they must be wrong. But perhaps the bells is that I have grown too old, slow and cautious for these times of too weighted down with family property & business to keep the good things needed in these days. I don't really know All I know is that a lot of this development has made me very unhappy. In some months, I have tried desperately to make

(2) myself understood, I have failed to convince myself. So there is - an unhappy position at any time and most of all when I face the sort of situation I face now. I just wish I felt now the feeling of complete certainty that anything and everything that will come out in any case I can defend fully, openly and with my whole conscience, knowing that it is utterly correct, defensible and that if I had my time over I would do it all again - which I certainly did in 1956 at the TT, and which carried me through that rather awful ordeal without any of the fears etc.

(3) increases of today. Or is this just the effect of 7 1/2 years added on? just to return to # for a moment. I don't think I made it clear to you that I passed your reply to him. But except for about 20 words on Sunday - except last of conversation - have not had any opportunity to discuss or question, so do not know whether what you say will change his mind. I did with my opinion that you are probably right. I don't think he has got the assurances yet he is making for but if he does he may still make the statement, so

4) Perhaps some sort of indefinite warning should be given to the lady, just in case. Will confirm when I can, but don't expect that to be before approx. with the way things are here. 10 days already since I saw you. It is a funny thing - the hours of each day seem to drag by slowest slowest as time goes on, and yet the days & weeks seem to go past quicker. The first time I waited 3 weeks between your visits, it seemed an eternity that would never pass, and already I am asking myself whether you will get another permit from God about 3 weeks from the last, 10 days I have now. When the count of days will be 65-26, which seems to be almost the end of a road, not the road, perhaps, but a lap of some sort. I have found these past 10 days the easiest, most tranquil of the whole of things so far, less tense & nervous, probably, because I have now completed a number of things - signed what has been on my mind in all its details - these stated & those not stated - for a long time (I would like your view & comment when you have it all) And also the case for my bail now in my prejudiced eyes a very formidable case indeed. Hope someday the courts think so. So now, those things are behind me, I don't beat out my brains - or whatever means it then - over every detail any longer. They are done, I can do no more on either of them. So now I have almost reconciled myself to waiting to see what happens - almost! Not without the most expectant hopes for the best case, for the good day, & perhaps a change, for the possibility that the habeas corpus thing might be reversed in the Texas court or on appeal. Any such chances? I have set your music poem to music - corny tripe of all type music, and added it to my tape for you. You know it almost irritated me to hear the first time I read it - more I mean, not in Italy when it said for less to me than it does now. Although I'm getting educated to know rather early these days, and I sometimes wonder whether I have a good or a bad sign for my peculiar personality. Any time you have space on the back of a letter, & time, you can tell it with the words of songs for my collection I would like your Warren Stearns one, and also Barbara Allen, & some that you like. Believe it all those endearing young choruses - Selah, Thos. More! Someone like that. Speed running out now but darling I really meant what I said in my last - don't beat yourself into a haze why to me if the stream tells, I will fight will keep me due, it is the way to you, knowing that somehow we are in touch, thinking of each other that keeps me sane. I am badly missing without letters to hope for. My love to you all, to all the kids, & beyond why, new all ways.
